A day of laughter, games, and memories

Delhi Public School-Bopal organised a thrilling and memorable picnic for the students of class XII on October 11. The destination was the renowned Swapna Srushti Resort near Gandhinagar, a perfect getaway for those seeking adventure and tranquillity away from the city's hustle and bustle. A total of 185 enthusiastic students, accompanied by their teachers, embarked on this exciting journey early in the morning, their spirits high and energy infectious. The bus ride itself was a lively affair, filled with songs and laughter, setting the tone for the day ahead.

Upon arrival, the students were welcomed warmly and given entry bands to access the resort's vast array of activities. Before diving into the fun, they enjoyed a delicious breakfast that recharged them for the day's adventures. The resort, known for its lush green lawns and expansive play areas, offered a wide variety of outdoor games. Students quickly formed groups and dispersed across the resort to explore the different zones and activities. The Adventure Park was a major highlight, featuring thrilling activities including high rope crossing, zip line, sky cycle, commando net, and tyre wall. The students also enjoyed a serene trek to the Sabarmati River, fostering a deeper bond with nature.

As the day progressed, students engaged in life-sized board games like Chess, Ludo, and Jenga, which added excitement to the garden ground. Sports lovers had their fill with archery, cricket, football and volleyball. The resort buzzed with energy as students moved from one activity to another, making the most of every moment. Teachers also joined in the games, which helped strengthen their bond.

A sumptuous lunch was served in the afternoon. Post lunch, the students

Emotional wellbeing and mindfulness matters ...

BOPAL

Delhi Public School Bopal celebrated Mental Health Week 2025 recently. This week was dedicated to spreading awareness about emotional wellbeing and mindfulness across all grades. From mindful mantras to heartfelt reflections, week was filled with calmness, creativity, and connection.

Students penned their thoughts in reflective diaries, chanted positive mantras with the Life Skills

Club, and practiced through soothing breathing exercises to nurture inner peace. Sensory mindfulness walks, open talks on healthy living, and discussions on nutritious eating reminded everyone that a healthy mind begins with a healthy lifestyle. The powerful Nukkad Natak "You Are Not Alone" and the parent workshop "Guiding Futures" beautifully reinforced the message of empathy, support, and mental wellness. Together, we learned that mental health is not a day's theme – it's a way of living.

Event Management Internship Programme Conducted

Delhi Public School, Bopal organised an inspiring Event Management internship for the students of classes X and XII at the Blind People's Association, Ahmedabad, recently. The event, titled "Swabhimaan", was a lively and heartwarming dance celebration for special children, coordinated by a private company, a professional event management company.

The internship offered students a unique opportunity to blend professional learning with social engagement, fostering empathy, inclusion, and a spirit of community service. Students wholeheartedly volunteered to support the Blind People's Association team in ensuring the success of Swabhimaan. The event radiated joy and energy as children expressed themselves freely through music and dance. The student volunteers managed guest reception, assisted participants, coordinated stage activities, distributed refreshments, and helped create a welcoming, festive atmosphere throughout the celebration.

Through this immersive experience, students discovered the importance of teamwork, communication, and adaptability in event management. More importantly, they learned that empathy and understanding form the heart of every successful event.

The internship was a deeply rewarding experience that strengthened the students' sense of social responsibility and appreciation for inclusive celebrations. It beautifully reflected that true event management goes beyond planning and coordination—it lies in creating moments of happiness, connection, and belonging for everyone involved.

A Step Towards Saving Lives

Delhi Public School - Bopal, in collaboration with Prathama Blood Centre, successfully hosted a Blood Donation Camp recently, at the school campus. The initiative aimed to promote the spirit of giving and spread awareness about the life-saving impact of blood donation.

underwent a pre-donation health screening conducted by the expert team from Prathama Blood Centre. This ensured that all donors were fit and well-informed, especially those donating for the first time.

The camp was organised under the guidance of the Medical Department of DPS-Bopal, and it witnessed enthusiastic participation from parents and staff. The response highlighted the collective commitment of the DPS community towards social responsibility and humanitarian causes.

The camp also served as a valuable platform for addressing common concerns and debunking myths about blood donation. Many parents engaged with the medical team, learning about the safety, frequency, and benefits of donating blood - helping build long-term awareness in the community.

Key Highlights:

- ▶ 33 units of blood collected
- ▶ Participation from both parents and staff
- ▶ All donors received certificates and tokens of appreciation
- ▶ Myths about blood donation were clarified through one-on-one interaction

Why it Mattered

Blood donation is one of the most impactful ways to contribute to society - it cannot be synthetically produced, and the need for blood is constant. Every donation has the potential to save multiple lives, as blood is separated into components such as plasma, red cells, and platelets to treat various patients.

Ensuring Safe & Informed Donation

Exploring academic horizons: University fair held

Delhi Public School–Bopal, under the aegis of its placement cell, organised a future-focused Indian University Fair on October 10 for students of classes X, XI, and XII, as well as parents of classes XII.

The event saw enthusiastic participation from over 30 reputed Indian universities, each offering students the opportunity to engage in direct, one-on-one conversations with university representatives. These interactions provided students with first-hand insights into a spectrum of undergraduate programmes across diverse fields such as Management, Technology, Design, Film Making, Liberal Arts, and more.

University delegates shared comprehensive information about their twinning programmes, which allow students to complete part of their degree in India and the remainder abroad at a partner university. Through engaging conversations with university delegates during the fair, students gained essential clarity on admission processes, eligibility criteria, scholarships, and campus life—helping them make well-informed choices for their higher education journey. The representatives engaged with each grade. Both students and parents found the fair insightful, informative, and inspiring, appreciating the opportunity to explore array of academic pathways.

Overall, the event proved to be a enriching experience, equipping students with the confidence and clarity needed to plan their future with purpose.

HAPPY CHILDREN'S DAY

Queen of Humanities Excellence!

Ishani Debnath, 18

Achievement:
Perfect score (500/500) and CBSE India & Worldwide Topper in Class 12 Humanities 2025

In an exam season where millions of students across India waited anxiously for results, Ahmedabad's Ishani Debnath made it look effortless. A student of DPS Bopal, she scored 100 out of 100 in each of her five subjects – English, History, Political Science, Psychology and Geography – becoming both India and Worldwide Topper in the CBSE Class 12 Humanities stream. Her preparation style? Regular revision, practising older question papers, and clear focus on fundamentals, all without private tuition.

What stands out is her motivation: she chose humanities out of genuine interest, not because it was easy. Ishani's flawless performance amid fierce competition signals something important: strong academic dedication can redefine expectations for the humanities stream.

As Children's Day draws near, we celebrate you – the thinkers, bold dreamers, and young innovators shaping a brighter tomorrow. Today we highlight children who are already making waves with their creativity and purpose. And to every reader – remember, big change starts with small ideas!

Physics Workshop enhances students understanding

Delhi Public School-Bopal, organized FIZIKA - A Physics Workshop for Science Educators held on November 10 and 11. The primary objective of the two-day workshop was to strengthen teachers' conceptual understanding of key domains in physics and to empower them with innovative, hands-on strategies for making classroom teaching more effective, engaging, and application-oriented.

The workshop was facilitated by Mukul Rathi, coordinator of Janta Vedic Inapt Anveshika, Baraut, and Executive Council Member of RC4 IAPT (2020-22 and 2024-26). A dedicated physics educator, Rathi is widely recognised for promoting experiential and demonstration-based learning across India. He has conducted numerous workshops, science shows, and training programmes for both students and teachers, including the Northern Relay of Physics Bharat Eater, which impacted more than 2,000 students and 300 teachers across Jammu, Kashmir, and Ladakh.

Science teachers, teaching classes VI to XII, participated in the workshop, including educators from neighbouring schools.

The first day began with an engaging session on Force and Motion, where participants revisited Newton's laws through dynamic demonstrations. Using simple classroom materials such as balls, strings, and toy cars, Rathi illustrated key concepts like rest, motion, circular motion, and action-reaction pairs. Teachers actively participated by predicting outcomes and validating them through experiments, making the atmosphere highly interactive and enjoyable.

The following session explored Wave Motion, Sound, and Oscillatory Motion. Participants used a simple pendulum and a slinky to understand oscillations, wave propagation, frequency, wavelength, and standing waves. The hall resonated with enthusiasm as teachers created transverse and longitudinal waves, observing real-time patterns that linked theoretical knowledge with real-life phenomena such as musical instruments and beat formation.

The second day commenced with an invigorating session on Fluid Dynamics. Through simple yet captivating experiments, Rathi explained concepts such as pressure, buoyancy, and pressure difference, demonstrating how everyday materials can make complex physical ideas both visible and comprehensible.

The workshop then transitioned into sessions on Electricity and Magnetism, where participants explored electrostatics, magnetic fields, and their effects through practical demonstrations. The lively engagement and collaborative spirit reflected the participants' renewed excitement for teaching physics through experiential approaches.

The concluding session focused on Light and Optical Phenomena. Using a laser beam, a water bottle, and even a strand of hair, Rathi offered mesmerising demonstrations of refraction, total internal reflection, dispersion, scattering, and diffraction, leaving participants inspired by the visual beauty of physics in action.

FIZIKA highlighted the significance of experiential learning and the integration of real-world examples to strengthen conceptual clarity. The workshop proved to be a stimulating and enriching experience, equipping educators with creative methods to make physics learning more interactive, relevant, and enjoyable for students.

healthier digital habits at home. The session incorporated curated excerpts from an interview with Manjula Pooja Shroff, MD and CEO of the Kalorex Group, in which she advocated the importance of "trading screen time with green time" and shed light on global initiatives.

A key message of the webinar was that mindful and balanced use of technology is more sustainable and effective than restrictive bans. Apps such as Offscreen, Offtime, and Flipd were recommended as supportive tools to help regulate device usage among students.

Parents appreciated the clarity of the content, the relevance of real-life examples, and the authenticity brought by the student presenters. The webinar concluded with an engaging Q&A session, reinforcing the school's commitment towards nurturing student wellbeing.

AN ODYSSEY OF JOY: Class X excursion

Delhi Public School-Bopal organised an exhilarating and unforgettable picnic for the students of class X on Saturday, November 15. The destination was the scenic resort near Gandhinagar – an ideal retreat for those seeking both adventure and serenity away from the city's fast-paced life. A total of 350 spirited students, accompanied by their teachers, set off early in the morning, their laughter and enthusiasm filling the air. The lively bus ride, echoing with songs and cheerful chatter, set the perfect tone for the exciting day ahead.

Upon reaching the resort, the students received a warm welcome and colourful entry bands granting access to its wide range of attractions. A delicious breakfast awaited them, recharging everyone for the fun-filled day. The resort's sprawling lawns and picturesque surroundings provided the perfect backdrop for a series of outdoor activities. The Adventure Park soon became a favourite, offering thrilling experiences such as the zip line, sky cycle, high rope crossing, commando net, and tyre wall.

A peaceful trek to the Sabarmati River offered a refreshing escape into nature's calm beauty. Adding to the day's excitement were life-sized versions of Chess and Ludo, which kept everyone engaged and entertained. Sports enthusiasts showcased their energy and team spirit through archery, cricket, football, and volleyball matches. Teachers too joined in the fun, creating moments of shared laughter and camaraderie. A lavish lunch was served in the afternoon, followed by more exploration and games, keeping the resort abuzz with joy and youthful energy.

The day concluded on a magical note with a captivating magic show, just before the evening high tea. The picnic to resort was much more than a recreational outing – it was a celebration of friendship, adventure, and youthful zest, leaving behind memories that will be cherished for years to come.

Glimpses of glory @ DPS

Delhi Public School-Bopal celebrated Pratibha Gaurav Divas for class VI (2024-25) on November 15. This celebration highlighted the academic excellence of the institution, honoured not only scholastic brilliance but also nurturing the timeless virtues of compassion, kindness, and forgiveness, the true hallmarks of enlightened intellect.

The occasion commenced with a ceremonial cultural harmony symbolising benevolence and gratitude, the values that bind humanity beyond barriers. This was followed by an eloquent welcome address by the principal, Sabina Sawhney, who exhorted students to cultivate inner empathy alongside academic excellence. She emphasised that the students need to be resilient and learn to bounce back in adverse situations. Further, she mentioned that the essence of education lies in fostering compassion, gratitude, mindfulness, and emotional balance.

Dr Vivek Uppal, director Surveen Children Hospital and Jeevnesh Suri, DGM Airports-Adani Infra (India) were the esteemed guests for this ceremony.

Dr Uppal in his reflective address, lauded the institution for shaping not merely achievers, but humane citizens imbued with moral sensibility. He reminded the audience that true success flourishes where humility and compassion coexist with ambition, also that greatness is not defined solely by accolades, but by the ability to forgive, uplift, and serve others selflessly. Suri in his poignant and inspiring speech, urged students to envision their dreams with courage, yet anchor their pursuits in empathy.

The highlight of the day was that 163 students were acknowledged for their hard work and excellence. The event progressed with a group choir, followed by a soul-stirring dance performance by the students portraying the spiritual synergy between body and mind, echoing the themes of peace, reconciliation, and inner strength. The performance captivated both the parents and students, keeping them on the edge of their seats as they relished every moment.

As the event ended, the atmosphere resonated with pride, warmth, and introspection. The young achievers departed with hearts illuminated by gratitude and minds inspired to sow further seeds of compassion, kindness, and forgiveness, promising to transform their learning into acts of empathy and their success into service for humanity.
