Educators on Reviving Reading Habits...

The decline in reading news- and books is a growing concern. digital reels and social media rtedened attention spans, sidelin- lepth of print reading is vital for ninking and knowledge.

Way forward: Reading challenges, book dedicated guided and shared session can help in reviving the our school, students reviewing 10 books earn special recogni- ficates. We blend newspapers cussions and promote family These efforts reignite passion ing, building informed, empa- ture leaders.

J. Mathew, principal , Divine Child International School , Adalaj

Reason: Reading habits are fast disappearing because our brains are being trained to skim byte sized information instead of en- gaging deeply with the content. Uncontrolled ceaseless exposure to short videos has reduced the attention span and patience. The result is that reading and critical thinking are being replaced by quick scrolling and superficial un- derstanding.

Way forward: One sure way to counter this is to read physical books, even if it's just 10-15 mins before bedtime. It's a good habit for children and adults alike, since it promotes the double benefit of inducing sleep as well.

Cloth bag painting activity conducted

Delhi Public School-Bopal organised a cloth bag painting activity on the theme road safety as a part of the SEWA programme for classes VI to IX on January 17. The activity was conducted with the aim to create awareness among students about Road Safety and promote eco-friendly habits. The activity was conducted with great enthusiasm and active participation from students.

Students painted cloth bags with simple and meaningful messages such as "Follow Traffic Rules," "Wear Helmet," "Stop at Red Light," and "Save Life, Drive Safe." Through colours and creativity, children learned the importance of road safety rules in a joyful and effective way.

BOPAL

A special mention was given to digital de-addiction during the activity. Students were guided about reducing excessive use of mobile phones and digital gadgets, especially while walking or crossing roads. They were encouraged to stay alert, observe traffic signals, and focus on real-life surroundings instead of screens. The activity helped students develop creativity, social awareness, and responsible behaviour. It also promoted the use of reusable cloth bags, supporting environmental protection. Overall, the activity was informative, creative, and meaningful, helping students understand road safety, environmental care, and the importance of digital balance in daily life.

Educational field visit to Van Gogh exhibition

On February 7, 421 students of classes V to VII from Delhi Public School-Bopal participated in an educational visit to "Van Gogh - An Immersive Story" at Palladium Mall, Ahmedabad. The visit offered an award-winning international immersive experience that brought the extraordinary world of Vincent van Gogh to life through large-scale projections, evocative soundscapes, and interactive environments.

Students virtually stepped into Van Gogh's iconic artworks, explored his creative journey, and witnessed the seamless integration of art, innovation, and science in narrating one of the most inspiring stories in art history. The immersive visual learning modules provided deep insights into artistic expression while fostering values such as empathy, perseverance, and self-awareness.

Along with enhancing digital and technical awareness, the experience also highlighted the importance of digital de-addiction, encouraging students to use technology responsibly and maintain a healthy digital balance. Overall, the educational visit proved to be an enriching, insightful, and memorable learning experience for the students.
